GENERAL WARRANTIES OF THE NORTHERN NEVADA INTERGROUP ASSOCIATION OF ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS

In all its proceedings, the Intergroup Association observes the spirit of AA Traditions, taking great care that the Intergroup Association never becomes the seat of perilous wealth or power; that sufficient operating funds, plus a reserve be its prudent financial principal; that none of the Intergroup Association members shall ever be placed in a position of unqualified authority over any of the others; that all important decision be reached by discussion, vote and whenever possible, substantial unanimity; that no Intergroup Association action ever be personally punitive or an incitement to public controversy; that though the Intergroup Association may act for the service of AA Groups in the Northern Nevada area and parts of Northern California, it shall never perform any acts of government; and that, like the Society of Alcoholics Anonymous, the Intergroup Association itself will always remain democratic in thought and action.

NORTHERN NEVADA INTERGROUP

Tradition Five

"Each group has but one primary purpose - to carry its message to the alcoholic who still suffers."

Editorial by Bill W. A.A. Grapevine, April, 1948

"Each Alcoholics Anonymous group ought to be a spiritual entity having but one primary purpose -- that of carrying its message to the alcoholic who still suffers."

Says the old proverb, "Shoemaker, stick to thy last." Trite, yes, but very true for us of A.A. How well we need to heed the principle that it is better to do one thing supremely well than many things badly.

Because it has now become plain enough that only a recovered alcoholic can do much for a sick alcoholic, a tremendous responsibility has descended upon us all, an obligation so great that it amounts to a sacred trust. For to our kind, those who suffer alcoholism, recovery is a matter of life or death. So the society of Alcoholics Anonymous cannot, it dare not ever be diverted from its primary purpose.

Temptation to do otherwise will come aplenty. Seeing fine works afoot in the field of alcohol, we shall be sorely tempted to loan out the name and credit of Alcoholics Anonymous to them; as a movement we shall be beset to finance and endorse other causes. Should our present success continue, people will commence to assert that A.A. is a brand new way of life, maybe a new religion, capable of saving the world. We shall be told it is our bounden duty to show modern society how it ought to live.

Oh, how very attractive these projects and ideas can be! How flattering to imagine that we might be chosen to demonstrate that olden mystic promise: "The first shall be last and the last shall be first." Fantastic, you say. Yet some of our well-wishers have begun to say such things.

Fortunately most of us are convinced that these are perilous speculations, alluring ingredients of that new heady wine we are now being offered, each bottle marked "Success"!

Of this subtle vintage may we never drink too deeply. May we never forget that we live by the Grace of God -- on borrowed time; that anonymity is better than acclaim; that for us as a movement, poverty is better than wealth.

And may we reflect with ever deepening conviction that we shall never be at our best except when we hew only to the primary spiritual aim of A.A. -- "That of carrying its message to the alcoholic who still suffers alcoholism."

Service Concept Five:

"Throughout our structure, a traditional "Right of Appeal" ought to prevail, thus assuring us that minority opinion will be heard and petitions for the redress of personal grievances will be carefully considered."

Concept V - Right of Appeal Assures that Minority Opinion will be Heard and that Personal Grievances will be Addressed.

Throughout his writings on the Twelve Concepts our founder expresses an underlying principle on which the Society of Alcoholics Anonymous is based, that it always be democratic in spirit, thought and action. Maintaining a "Right of Appeal" is important to this. Appeal provides for a response when there is disagreement with any action, or when any procedure is thought to fall too far short of the democratic ideal Bill envisioned.

While at my first General Service Area Assembly I was surprised to find that taking a vote on a matter did not always bring an end to the discussion. After the vote was taken, the Chairperson kept the discussion open by asking whether anyone who had voted in the minority, the losing side, wanted to speak further. This was a purposeful and planned exercise of the right of appeal. It added assurance that all opinions were adequately heard, and had not been overrun by a hasty vote or an impatient majority. As I continued to attend Assemblies I witnessed several situations in which an expressed minority opinion changed the eventual outcome, and led to a much better decision.

As Bill says it, "To increase the actual spirit of democracy by special deference to minority opinion is, we think, better than to follow blindly the rule which always insists on an unqualified dominance by a slight majority vote". Bill recognizes that a majority vote may not always lead to the best, fairest, most appropriate or right decision.

Applications of the right of appeal include the right to petition. This becomes important when any minority, or even a majority, feels that a decision was made by someone who may not have had the authority to make that decision, when a decision is made without adequate debate and discussion, or when the decision is felt to be wrong or not in the best interest of the whole of A.A. Bill says that in A.A.'s world services both appeal and petition have always been used well.

"Right of Appeal" includes the right of an A.A. employee or member to appeal and request a hearing regarding a personal grievance. One of the underlying principles of the right to appeal is that we respect everyone's experiences as well as what they have to say based on those experiences. Even if they might be wrong they have a right to be heard and, many times, they may have a better idea than what the majority thought best.

Some of the enemies of the spirit of democracy include impatience, apathy, self-seeking, uninformed or angry majorities, and the exercise of too much personal power. Bill says that A.A. has no room for any of these.

Bill reminds us in the text of Concept V that any alcoholic can be a member of A.A. the moment he says he is. He has a right to belong no matter what he thinks or believes. "Ours is indeed a large charter of minority privileges and liberties." Appeal is a method for assuring that these liberties and privileges are always respected and maintained as we work together in A.A. service.

This is a 12 part series written by members of the 12 Concepts Study Group in Reno, Nevada. Efforts were made to use simple, everyday language. Each concept is written by an individual member of the group and is not necessarily the opinion of AA as a whole or NNIG. We hope this series will help our community to understand the Concepts and bring interest to those wanting to know more about them. Revised May, 2017.

The office has been busy and also very slow. Truly living one day and a time. We will be renewing the insurance policies this month, so we will have a once a year expense coming up. We are still open Monday – Friday 9-5 and the office is the only place around to get big books and chips besides the internet, so if you need anything please support NNIG and get it at the office.

UP IN SMOKE

On a quiet back road in Louisiana, he lit a flame that celebrated a brand new man

Step five: Admitted to God, to ourselves, and to another human being the exact nature of our wrongs.

I've never really understood the difference between regular honesty and rigorous honesty, but I'm pretty sure it has something to do with the degree of disclosure. I recently completed my Fourth and Fifth Steps with my new sponsor, a man I've come to trust enough to reveal my deepest darkest secrets to. Larry is a real "nuts and bolts" kind of AA old-timer, who demands that his sponsees do things his way. One of the first things he said to me was, "Pat, you've been trying to do things your way for quite a while now, and what has it gotten you? Why don't you try doing things my way just this once and see what happens?" I couldn't argue with his reasoning at all, because I'd been in and out of AA for 40 years, and I was still trying to achieve "long term sobriety." My main problem was that I'd never had a sponsor I trusted completely and so I'd never done a fearless and thorough Fourth and Fifth Step. The challenge of baring my soul completely to God and another human being and revealing the exact nature of my wrongs was going to take the kind of rigorous honesty that I'd never had the courage to attempt before. I think God put Larry in my life for a reason because I knew that I could trust him and that he wouldn't be shocked or judgmental about any aspect of my past. Once I had committed myself to being rigorously honest, I was surprised at how fast and easy the work actually was. When we did my Fifth Step, I had the distinct feeling that God was right there in the room with us. I also felt a wonderful sense of love and forgiveness.

The next morning when I awoke, I felt there was something missing. It suddenly dawned on me that all the stress and anxiety and guilt I had been living with for so long was gone.

I rent a townhouse on the edge of town, and out back is a paved road about half a mile long that doesn't go anywhere. Someone had planned to develop the property a long time ago, but for some reason they never did. It's where I go to exercise and pray and listen to music with headphones. It's perfect for that because there is never any traffic or distractions—just the beautiful flora and fauna of Southern Louisiana. The morning after my Fifth Step I gathered up the paperwork of my Fourth Step, my first ever attempt at complete and rigorous honesty. I took it out to the end of the road that leads to nowhere, crinkled it up and set it on fire. As I watched the smoke rising from the mudhole that contained the putrid essence of my past life, I felt the presence of God smiling down on me from the beautiful blue Louisiana sky. I knew without a doubt that God was filling that void inside me with love and forgiveness and the strength and desire to help others. Then I turned around and walked back down that road toward home, a new man.
